College Song

By stately elms surrounded
Our dear old college stands,
And with a faith unbounded
Our loyalty demands.
She guides her daughters all aright
As to her side they cling,
And shields them all when dark the night
'Neath the shadow of her wing.

Oh, college dear, we love but thee
And will be always true,
Thy colors shall our ensign be—
The yellow and the blue.

Hail to our Alma Mater!
The pride of all the land!
We will loyal be forever
And by her side we'll stand.
Her fame for aye we will unfold
'Til known to all she'll be
And oft her glories be retold
By us on land and sea.

Faculty Houses

Along with the other innovations which have been instituted in the college within the last year, have been the new residences for the President and his family and some members of the faculty.

The West Senior House, which the class of '31 vacated in May, 1930, was thoroughly renovated and enlarged, thus providing a President's home which is satisfactorily filling a need long felt by the college.

The East Senior House was also repaired and made ready this fall for the use of the faculty members. Mrs. Jones, head of the Speech Department, and her family occupy three of the downstairs rooms in which Mrs. Hart's family formerly lived. Mrs. Forrest, voice instructor; Dr. Gamper, professor of German, and Miss Olsen, instructor in biology, also have apartments in the East Senior House. The new hostess of the dining room, Miss Mosley, makes her home there also.

East Senior House

Due to the removal of the President's family, Dean Austin now uses their old apartment in Main as her private living quarters and office.

Mrs. Hart is living in Jane Hall, in which she has a suite of rooms on the first floor.

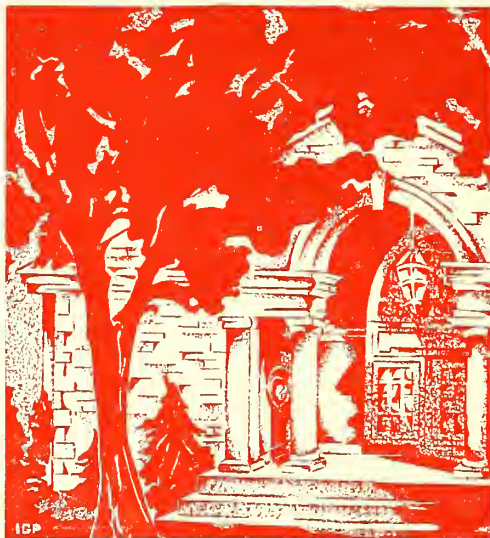

Dr. Stewart, the senior class advisor, is the only faculty member who lives in Jane. Miss Anderson and Miss Johnston still have their rooms in Harker Hall. The other faculty members have apartments and rooms in town.

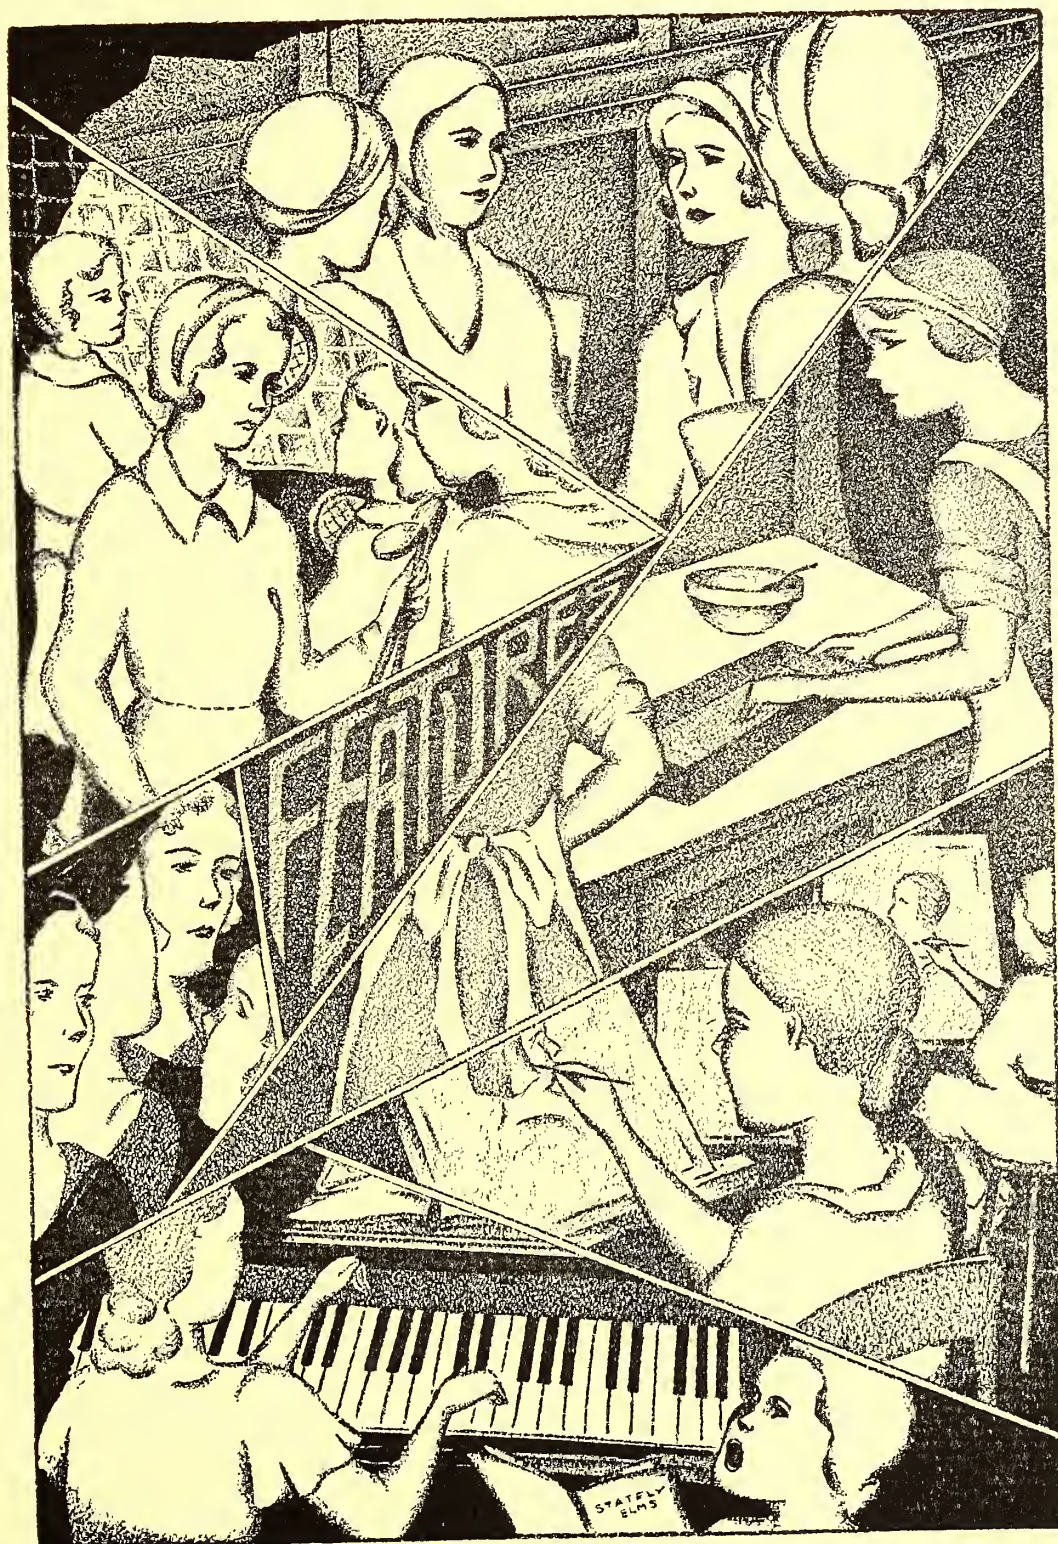

The erection of Jane Hall has made it possible for MacMurray College to fulfill a dream which it has long cherished, namely, a President's home and a faculty house.

Senior Class History

The class of '31 is the first to graduate from the college under the new name of MacMurray College. This class has incorporated many of the new ideas and movements of the college. During their freshman year, they inaugurated the system whereby one large society was divided into four smaller ones. Classes were held in MacMurray Hall for the first time when this class was a freshman group. The building of the Dining Hall, Jane Hall, and the construction of the athletic field all came within the career of the class of '31 in MacMurray College.

In spite of the fact that this class of '31 has not been triumphant in athletics, they have shown themselves excellent in sports throughout their four years. They won the hockey championship of 1929.

There are some unusual literary lights in this class. As sophomores, they published the first college song book. Irma Hinchman was editor of the Illiwoco which was published in 1930. Under Grace Chapman's guidance, there have been many fine issues of the College Greetings, which is the senior literary work for the college.

Junior Class History

The junior class, which was the largest class in the history of the college in 1928, was the first class to submit to the now traditional green ribbons. The keynote of their college spirit was struck on Thanksgiving Eve of their freshman year, when they violently disregarded their green ribbons by a spirited revolt. In regard to athletics, they were undefeated during their freshman year.

Miss Teague, class advisor of the juniors, directed them through their sophomore year. Despite the fact that they lost the hockey championship this year, they retained their first place in basketball, and established a splendid record in studies, parties, and other school functions.

Because of Miss Teague's illness, Miss Anderson has been their advisor this year. Again they won the championship in basketball. They also took complete charge of the publication of the college annual.

This year there have been teas, the first all-college dance and other social activities sponsored by the juniors who have thoroughly enjoyed Miss Anderson's advice, co-operation, and friendship.

Sophomore Class History

With Dr. Newton as class advisor, the members of the class of '33 have proved their worth and ability during the year, '29-'31.

During the past year they have maintained an academic standard worthy of MacMurray College. They have turned out several athletic teams all of which have displayed fine sportsmanship despite the fact that they have won no outstanding victories.

Among the social activities of the class was a swimming party in honor of the seniors. The sophomore dance was reported as a grand success.

The class of '33 is half-way towards its final goal. The ability which they have shown so far by their hearty co-operation in the support of school ideals should prove adequate to bear them on through their next two years. There is one thing which the sophomores do not discuss before the members of other classes. The only hint given will be that it concerns basketball.

There is promise of literary and artistic skill among the collegians of this class which carried off most of the prizes in the Greeting contest of 1930.

Miss Johnston

Freshman Class History

The class of '34 has the good fortune of having Miss Mary Johnston as its advisor. Under her splendid leadership this class has started on the first lap of its journey through MacMurray College. At the first of the school year Helen Robinson was elected class president. Since that time the Freshmen have taken a prominent part in college activities.

There are many athletes in the class who will doubtless gain distinction as time goes on. Indeed, they have made a record for themselves already having won the hockey championship, an act which filled the hearts of the upperclassmen with admiration. They also maintained an excellent basketball team.

The freshman dance was a success, as have been the other ingenious forms of social activity sponsored by this class. Their originality and co-operative spirit were displayed in their response to the Library Drive. If present data is any indication of success, the freshmen have three glorious years to anticipate.

The Town

The years go up and the years go down
With dragging tread in the little town
And hour by hour, and day by day,
The buildings sit with a slow decay.

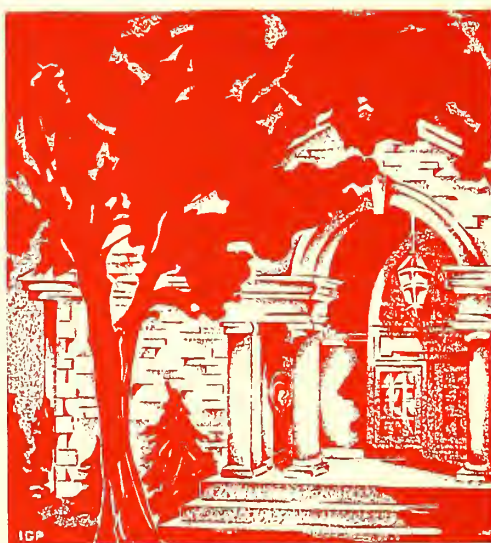

The men go up and the men go down
With careless tread in the little town
Outside, the years slip swiftly by
Here, men are born, and here they die.

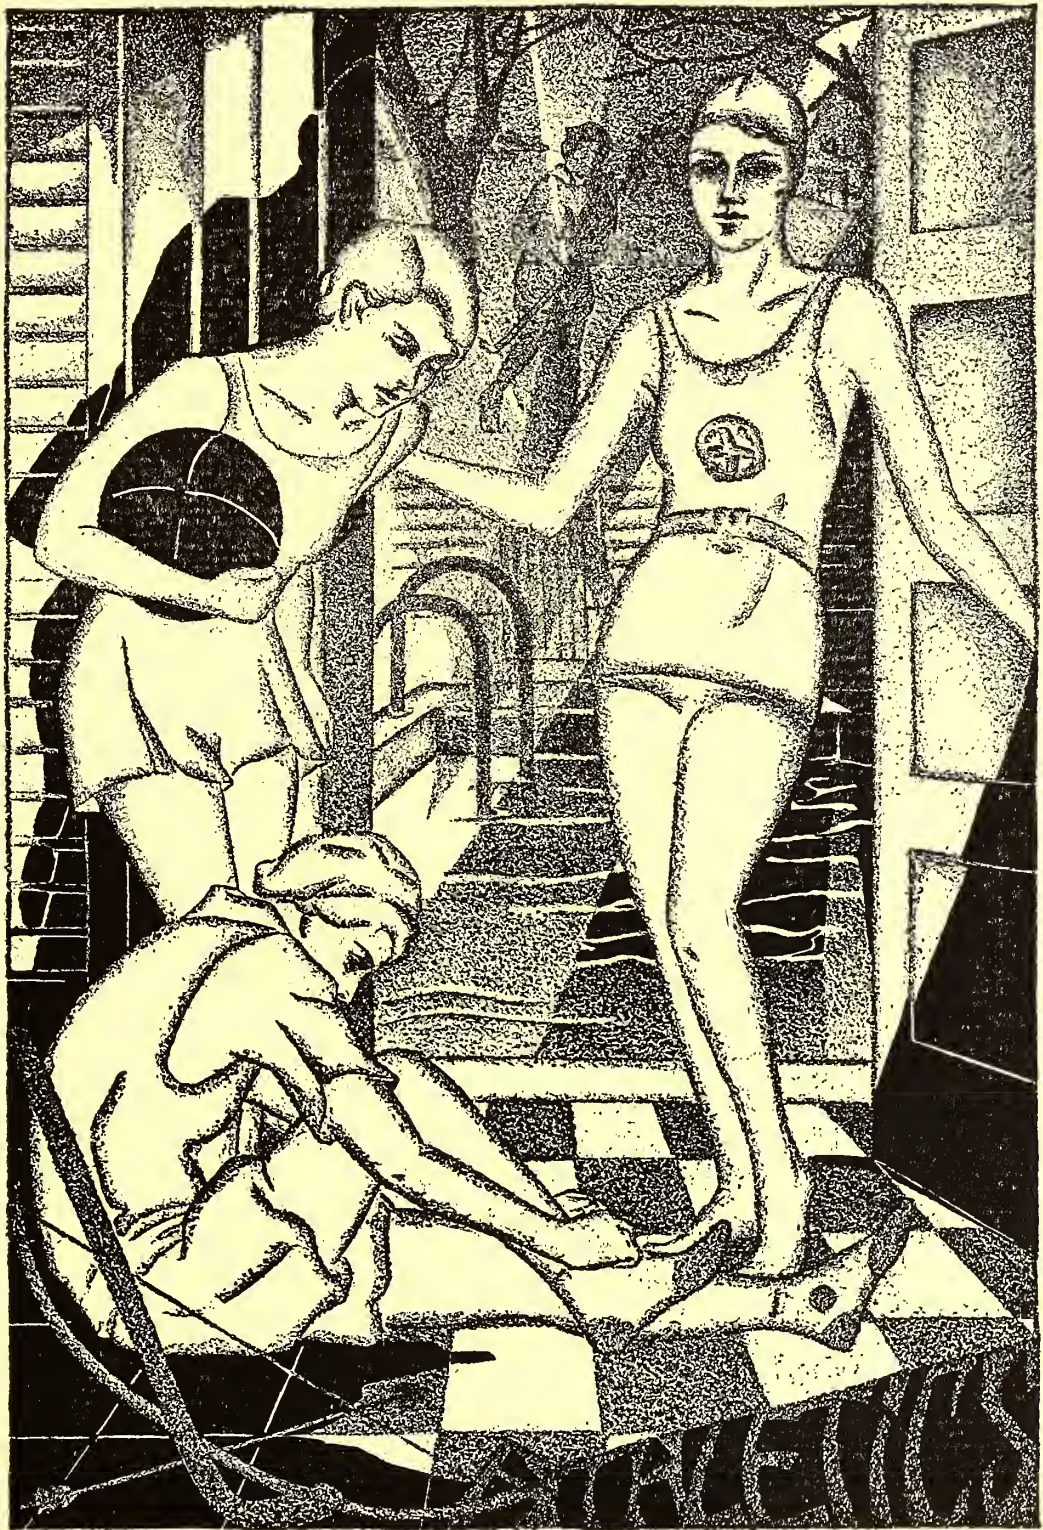

For life goes up and life goes down
With noiseless tread in the little town
And inch by inch, up every lane
The prairie is creeping in again.

The years go up and the years go down
With dragging tread in the little town
And rustling winds will someday blow
Through prairie grass where a few stones show.

Freshman Hockey Team

Due to the active interest displayed, and the favorable weather, the 1931 hockey season proved to be one that will not soon be forgotten.

The freshman-junior game of November 10 started the ball rolling towards the freshman goal; and it was only with the greatest effort that the juniors were at all successful in keeping it at their end of the field. The final score of the game was 5-1 in favor of the freshmen. On the same morning the sophomores were defeated by the seniors 1-0. The freshmen defeated the juniors the following week, this success making them the hockey champions of the season 1930.

The final clash came on Thanksgiving morning when the Army met the Navy on a field covered with fresh snow. Both teams found it necessary to fight their hardest from start to finish. The outcome of the tussle was uncertain up until the very end of the game. The Army and Navy both brought their ball within their goal line many times, only to have it knocked out by the opposing team. At the sound of the last whistle, the score was 2-1 in favor of the Navy.

Varsity Basketball Squad

The junior class emerged as basketball champions for the third successive time at the end of the 1931 season.

On February 18, the juniors defeated the freshmen by a margin of 34-27. This game was perhaps one of the fastest and best played games ever staged in the college. Up until the end of the first half, the outcome of the game was decidedly uncertain but the tables turned during the second half and the juniors dashed on to victory.

On the following evening, February 19, the Junior-Senior score was 39-29, in favor of the Juniors at the close of the game. Due to the fact that there was no Sophomore team this year, the Juniors were school champions at the end of this game.

The Varsity team consisting of four juniors and two freshmen was chosen from the best players on all competing teams.

The basketball play was a bit unusual this year, because of the adoption of a rule, advocated by the National Association on basketball rules, which eliminates the contested jump at the center. The Physical Education department endorsed the rule as a good invention.

Tennis Champion—1930

Helen M. Hart

Helen Hart '31 smashed her way to net fame by defeating all class contestants in the 1930 spring tennis tournament for which achievement she received the honor of having her name engraved on the silver loving cup which is reserved for that purpose. This honor is the permanent record kept in yearly recognition of the hard-fought series of victorious matches played to decide the school tennis champion.

The final game played by Helen Hart '31 and Catherine Goebel '31 was one of the most closely contested tennis sets which has been witnessed among MacMurray College students. The score of the first game was 6-4; that of the last was 7-5. The games were marked by a continuation of volleying, low net play, and intricate returns which kept the players and the audience keyed to the highest pitch of excitement as to the fate of each stroke. Helen secured the final victory and as a result is the school tennis champion.

Finale Chorus

Dad's Day

It is difficult to estimate whether Dad's Day means more to the student or to the Dad. However both Dad and Daughter had the best time ever on last Dad's Day.

The day began in a wet manner, with everyone flocking to the swimming pool to see the exhibition which was made up of various forms of swimming and diving. Everyone seemed to be at top form even to the Dads who were properly splashed.

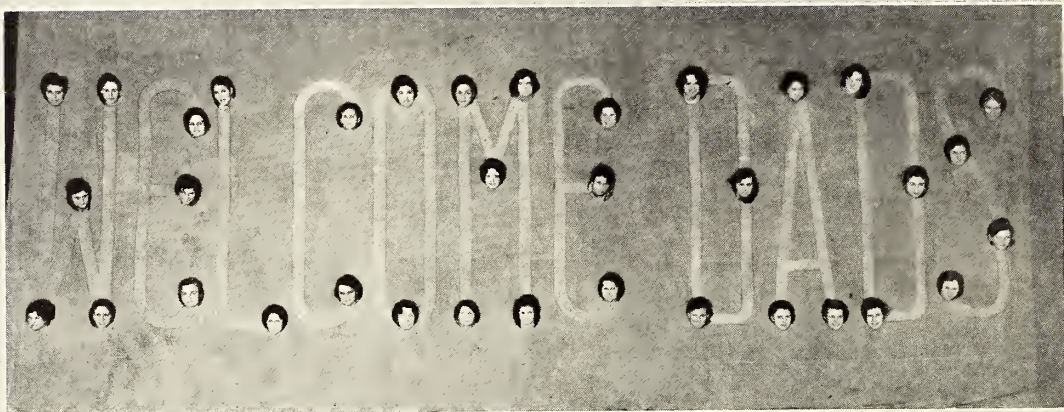

Dinner was the next event of importance on the program. There were the customary after dinner speakers, who were introduced by Mr. Alfred C. Crawford, who in Dr. McClelland's absence was master of ceremonies.

The afternoon found everyone listening to a splendid concert by the Music Department.

A musical revue, entitled "Danger in Doubles," was presented by the Physical Education Department in the evening. The singing and dancing proved to be amusing to the proud fathers, who perhaps never realized what good men their daughters make.

After the show, the guests left, assured that they have at least one safe investment during these days of insecurity.

Miss Helen Metzler

May Queen 1931

1932

May Day is in itself a lovely day, one which is anticipated with perhaps the most unanimous interest of any day in the year. The reason for this great concern is that on this day it is learned who the entire school has elected to fulfill its highest honor; namely that of May Queen. This year Helen Metzler was honored in this respect. According to the plan of the May Day Fete, she was chosen by the fairies as a queen from among the immortals. Amid much ceremony the reigning queen was placed upon her throne, and amused by famous characters in history who danced native dances.

Helen Metzler has served in many capacities during her college career and with such a measure of success that she was chosen as the most worthy person to represent the college in its greatest traditional honor.

What is it? No one but the select eight seem to know anything about this mysterious society and they won't tell a thing. So we are all in the "dark" as far as the affairs of this group are concerned. We do know that once a year there are several midnight meetings and suspicious "get-togethers" and then the sudden appearance of one or two girls wearing green ribbons around their necks. This tells us who they are and aside from that we can discover nothing concerning the W. C. T. U.

Cap and Gown

Because Helen Dickerson, Helen Metzler, and Grace Chapman have been the highest exponents of student loyalty and college spirit during their college careers, they were elected to Cap and Gown Society, the highest academic and extra-curricular award made to any student by MacMurray College.

Cap and Gown Society has for its purpose the promotion and encouragement of all college activities, both in scholarship and extra-curricular affairs. To be a member of this society, one must have the best interests of the college at heart.

Election to Cap and Gown is purely a student matter. The three graduating members of the society elect three successors, whom they deem worthy of the honor of succeeding them. No one knows the result of this decision until the last chapel service is over and the student body congregates in front of Old Main. The three retiring Cap and Gown members, who are standing on the steps, descend one by one, select the junior of their choice from the assembled semi-circle of juniors, and escort her up the steps. Then the cap of the ex-Cap and Gown girl is removed and placed on the head of her successor. This constitutes the most impressive of all student services.

The pin worn by the members of this society is in the shape of a small gold cap. Their motto "Knowledge, Faith, and Service," which is also the college motto, is indicative of their aims.

Cap and Gown was granted its charter in 1924 at the request of the four upperclass society presidents.

The Students' Association of MacMurray College is a member of the Mid-Western section of the National Association of Women's self Governing Associations. All student administration is under the jurisdiction of this group which is elected by the students of the college. Each student is "ipso facto" a member of the organization. This membership obligates her to support all the rules of the college and to live up to its highest ideals.

The rules of the organization are set forth in the "Brown Book," which is re-edited annually with the additions and changes that have been suggested by the Legislative committee.

Meetings are held weekly on Friday morning at which time student problems and judiciary matters of the association are discussed by the student body.

The honor system is one of the most important institutions of MacMurray College which the Students Association supports. This system pledges each girl to honorably uphold the laws and traditions of the school.

Student Government has existed in MacMurray since 1905, when the college council was first organized. Soon after this a charter was granted which gave the organization the power to act in all student affairs. The fact that this body has worked so efficiently has increased the confidence of the faculty and students in their ability to govern themselves successfully and to handle all necessary problems of student administration.

The Y. W. C. A. of MacMurray College has completed another successful year under the able direction of Mildred Newman, who was well versed in the Y. W. field even before she was elected to the office of the presidency. She began the year by the inauguration of a new system whereby interest groups were formed to discuss student problems.

Branch membership in the Y. W. C. A. of MacMurray College insures membership in the National Organization.

This year, as last year, voluntary membership and financial subscription were solicited; the results were excellent. Practically every student claims membership in the MacMurray Y.W.C.A.

Meetings of the Y. W. C. A. are held on Sunday afternoons in the social room of Main. They consist of musical programs, religious discussions, and various interest groups which consider the topics which are vitally connected with our lives.

Fireside suppers have been among the type of entertainment which the Y. W. has fostered. On these occasions a buffet luncheon is served in the Social Hall and the discussions ensue while the girls remain around the fire.

The publication of the College Greetings falls to the senior class. The chief positions on the staff are held by seniors. They have the privilege of choosing members from each under class to fill the minor offices on the staff.

The Greetings is a bi-weekly publication. It contains the news of the school, literary criticism, and any additional material which may interest the reading public. This year the feature of the Greetings was a serial story which was written by various members of the faculty. The object of the serial story was to sponsor a guessing contest which would stimulate interest in the paper. Frances O'Donnell was the winner of this contest.

In addition to the publication of this bi-weekly paper the Greetings publishes two editions of a literary magazine which is compiled by the selection of the best material submitted by the entire student body. In the June edition of the magazine the prize winning stories, essays and poems of the year are printed. The prizes for these winners are presented in the last chapel service of the school year.

The most important literary work of MacMurray College, the editing of the Illiwoco, the college annual, has long been entrusted to the members of the junior class. For seventeen years junior classes have struggled to produce a yearbook worthy of the institution for which it stands. It seemed as if the 1931 Illiwoco was as nearly perfect as any student publication could be. It has been the aim of the staff to make the 1932 Illiwoco as nearly equal to the preceding one as possible. The sole purpose of the staff has been to assemble the material which suggests the events which would ordinarily be most potent in the memory of every student in the college.

The Illiwoco staff consists of members of the junior class, the editor and business manager being chosen by a class vote. They in turn select the other members of the staff, whose duty it is to depict by word and picture the student life of MacMurray College in this book, a complete chronicle of college activities.

Although the name of the college has been changed during the past year, the old name for the annual will be retained since "Illiwoco" has come to mean much to every graduate and student who knew the school by that name.

The College Choir is one of the foremost organizations of the Music department. It is composed of sixteen members who are selected on a competitive basis. There is one weekly rehearsal for the choir.

The daily chapel services at the Centenary Church are beautified by the assistance of the College Choir. The Easter and Christmas Vespers services are also very dependent upon the choir for their success.

The choir has made much progress under the directorship of Mrs. Forrest.

Any student is at liberty to try out for the choir.

Calendar

September 15-18—Freshman Orientation! Freshman everywhere. As one happy family, they attended the President's Reception, the stunts and the "council meetings."

September 19—The upperclassmen appear on the scene . . . much gossip and handshaking. Incidentally this is the day of registration.

September 20—What an effort to sit quiet and absorb some knowledge! To relieve the tension, the Y. W. C. A. gave a dance. The freshmen are sweet but Miss "Seez-All-Nozall" must be made to realize she is just a frosh.

October 2-4—Rushing! Formals, hay rides, golf, suppers and breakfasts. Such fun!

October 11-13—The second annual Pan American Conference given by Chester D. Pugsley of Peekskill, N. Y. More successful than the first one.

October 15—All aboard for a real hockey season!

October 18—The juniors and sophomores invite the freshmen to a "Hobo" party.

October 24—The Russian Cossack Chorus was as popular as ever.

November 1—'Nother night for food and whoopee! The Halloween party, in other words.

November 8—The senior ball. Ask them!

November 10—Hockey season opens with a double header. Freshman and senior teams to play in finals. Perfect weather and good playing.

November 13—First frost. Inspiration for fire drill.

November 17—Hockey finals. Freshmen won the cup. In the evening Cornelia Otis Skinner presented an informal program of original sketches.

November 23—Thanksgiving Vespers.

November 27—Thanksgiving day! Hockey game in the snow. Army mule, Navy goat, food and more food. Festivities of the day brought to a climax by the presentation of "Gammer Gurton's Needle" by the Dramatic Club.

November 28—Phi Nu Banquet at Colonial Inn.

November 29—Belles Lettres Banquet at Colonial Inn.

December 1—Tomford Harris piano recital.

December 10—Carola Goya, one of the most famous of dancers, noted particularly for her interpretation of the Spanish Folk dances.

- December 14—Christmas Vespers which brought wonderful music.
 December 15—Y. W. C. A. Christmas Bazaar. "Wish I had more money."
 December 19—January 6—Christmas vacation begins and ends.
 January 7—What a life!
 January 12—Freshmen entertain their sister class, the juniors, at a tea.
 January 13—Miss Ranson gives the French club a real French luncheon at the Colonial.
 January 19—Boris Koutzen, violinist.
 January 24—Dramatic Club banquet at Corner Cupboard.
 January 27-29—Finals! Such exams! "Gee! if I only had studied."
 February 2—"We want rain!"
 February 3—New semester. Many resolutions to start studying.
 February 4-7—Library drive for 3500 new books. Bootblacks, fruit vendors, seamstresses sprout overnight. Much competition to reach quota.
 February 10—Day of prayer.
 February 14—Valentine party—Faculty entertain. The "Three Must Get There?" of the English department were the hits of the evening.
 February 16—Wesley Mathers Speech Contest.
 February 17—Lecture by George Russell, "A. E.", poet, lecturer, philosopher and leader of the Irish movement for freedom in letters.
 March 2—Tony Sarg's marionettes. Return of a favorite entertainer.
 March 7—High school Debate and Declamation Contest. Dramatic club's presentation of "Kindling."
 March 8—Sleigh riding was the rage. "Did you get your face washed?"
 March 9—Duncan Robertson.
 March 16—Dad's Day! A swimming exhibition in the morning. A madrigal concert in the afternoon followed by a musical comedy at night.
 March 18—Dr. Clyde Fisher, Curator of New York Museum of Natural History, President of American Astronomy Club, gave an illustrated lecture on astronomy.
 March 26—Senior Dinner.
 March 29—Easter Vespers.
 April 6—Spring Vacation!
 April 7—"I got spring fever."
 April 18—Junior Promenade.
 April 25—Tironian Club Banquet.

Chester D. Pugsley

Mr. Chester D. Pugsley of Peekskill, New York, the donor of the Institute on Pan American Relations at MacMurray, presided at the various sessions. In closing the Institute, Mr. Pugsley announced that the third annual session would be held October 10-13, 1931, and that in connection with the Institute a pilgrimage would be made to the interesting Lincoln country which surrounds Jacksonville.

Pan American Conference

The second annual Institute on Pan American Relations, which met October tenth to thirteenth at MacMurray College, emphasized the particular need of educating the American public in Hispanic-American affairs in order to bring about a general understanding in this country of the problems that face our southern neighbors. In the words of President C. P. McClelland of MacMurray the aim of the Institute is to "generate friendly co-operation not only in matters of trade, but also in developing on the American continent a distinctively higher civilization and culture than the Old World has known."

The speakers were all men of large ability and well known in the field of international relations. The group included Professor Chester Lloyd Jones of the University of Wisconsin who spoke of the great economic gain which must arise from the development of the resources of South America; Mr. Joseph L. Jones of the United Press who discussed the value of accurate news in international affairs; Professor William Spence Robertson of the University of Illinois who spoke of the grievous misinterpretations of the Monroe Doctrine; His Excellency, Senor Dr. Don Manuel C. Tellez, Ambassador of Mexico, who presented a vivid picture of recent attempts of his country to adjust herself to contemporary civilization; Dr. William J. Cooper, United States Commissioner of Education, who stressed the value in international relations of informed women; Professor William Warren Sweet of the University of Chicago who spoke of the value of knowing of the cultural background of Hispanic-America; Professor John A. Lapp of Marquette University who discussed the merits of social co-operation; Professor Dexter Perkins of the University of Rochester who urged that the Monroe Doctrine be redefined officially to end present uncertainty in Hispanic-America concerning its meaning to the United States; while Mr. Andrew Ten Eyck of the Institute of Politics at Williamstown, Massachusetts discussed the importance to the United States of the Canal Zone and our interest in the Caribbean in general.

College Greetings Literary Contest

Creative writing is prompted to a great extent by the annual literary contest sponsored by the College Greetings staff to which all students enrolled in the college are urged to submit work which they have written during the year and for the occasion itself. The contributors to this contest look forward to the last chapel service of the year with a great deal of interest because at that time the winners are announced and the awards made. Previous to this the results of the contest are entirely unknown to the student body.

There is no limit to the variety and number of manuscripts which an individual may submit; therefore one person may receive several awards. Prizes are offered for short stories, both formal and informal essays, poetry, and one act plays.

The winners of the 1930 contest were: Short stories, first place, Beth Vollers; second place, Gladys Long; Honorable mention, Charlotte Foster; essays, first place, Charlotte Foster; second place, Gladys Long; honorable mention, Helen Beebe; poetry, first place, Irma Hinchman; second place, Edith Gilster; one act play, Charlotte Foster, first place.

The Wesley Mathers Declamation Contest

The annual Wesley Mathers Contest in public reading is a contest in which all those students who are enrolled in the department of Speech may participate. The type of reading given is optional, the only restriction being; that the length of the reading must not exceed thirteen minutes.

Those who placed in this year's contest, held February 18 in Music Hall, were Constance Alkire '33, first, who will receive a prize of seventeen dollars on the day of the last chapel service and Elizabeth Dertinger '33, second, who will receive a prize of eight dollars at the same time.

This contest is one which seeks to stimulate the interest of students in public speaking to the extent that they will produce some readings which have reached a high degree of perfection and will also give them the invaluable experience of comparing their work with that of their contemporaries.

Intecollegiate Debate Team

Following the custom established last year, an intersociety debate tournament was held, for which the Wesley-Mathers prize was the award. The final round of the debate was won by Belles Lettres society, whose negative team members, Melba Reid, Anabelle Scott, and Grace Chapman, defeated the affirmative team of Phi Tau Epsilon, composed of Mary Elizabeth Carper, Mildred Deaton, and Roberta Steinman. The topic for discussion was, "Resolved; that the State of Illinois require all automobile owners to carry public liability insurance of not less than $5,000 for property and $10,000 for persons."

Work began on the intercollegiate debate the second semester with teams selected by try-out, for each scheduled debate.

The first debate with Northwestern, held at Pontiac, Illinois, February 13, resulted in an audience decision for the MacMurray negative team, whose members were Melba Reid, Olena Cole, and Anabelle Scott.

The second debate with Wyoming University was held on the home platform March 27. Prof. C. C. Cunningham of Northwestern University gave the critic judge decision to the MacMurray College team, composed of Anabelle Scott and Melba Reid.

The debate with the University of Missouri scheduled for April 13, was cancelled by that university on account of illness of members of the team. The MacMurray team which had been chosen for this debate was composed of Charlotte Van Ormer and Olena Cole.

Athletic Association

This is another woman's club which we neglect frightfully. Why, the ladies of the club have even offered numerals, armbands and shields for all those who are disgusted enough to lose five pounds during the school year. We are acquainted with the point system instituted for that very purpose and what do we do about it? Proceed to gain five, ten and even fifteen pounds for sheer delight. Appreciation!

Scribbler's Club

The most active club on the campus; yet some girl dared intimate that she had never heard of it. Now, my dear friends, I want you to secure a date from the date committee and read these works of ours to the public. It is high time that they realize that we at least keep our club running and attend the weekly socials which are the envy of the campus.

College Choir

Can you sing? If so, you must try out for the college choir. We, as an organization, feel the need of someone who is willing to sing for the general populace. We do not have time. We will even go so far as to secure a position for you at the daily chapel services. They say they need some sweet young voices there, you know. Do tell us whether or not you sing!

Dramatic Club

Yes, you can belong if you pass the tryout. . . but my dear, don't try out. They are too rigid in their requirements and the school is just swamped with actresses already.

The Greetings

The Greetings is the only publication in the college in which you can express freely and fluently all that you consider worth talking about. It is good to get on the Greetings staff; it improves your style and then, too, there may be a chance as columnist on the New York Times as a reward for your services.

Societies

Of the four literary societies in existence, there is little to be said. Some girls belong to at least one of the four and some do not belong to either of the four.

"To be or not to be . . ." It's terrible not to be, and, is most painful to be. You are barred from this that and the other because you are this or that and you are not the other. You know how 'tis . . . but we insist that you join a society because all the other girls are doing it.

and make 'em stick

It isn't what you say in your advertising that counts. . . it's what the public gets and retains. Printed advertising conveys your message and makes it stick in the minds of the public. If you have a good printer hold on to him. He is a valuable asset. We possess the equipment, the personnel and the experience to be that kind of a printer for one or more new accounts. May we prove it with facts?

CAMPUS COINCIDENCES

(Believe 'em or not)

The music students were not talking about harmony.

Third Jane was absolutely quiet at 10 p.m.

Marj B. had no comeback.

Miss McGehee was not smiling.

Bert Hamilton stood still for five minutes.

A. Wolff did not play basketball.

Mr. Crawford went to dinner without any of his numerous family.

Is he tough or is he tender?

Is he fat or is he slender?

Can he talk or will he be

Deaf or dumb or flowery?

Will he interest or will he fag me?

Can he dance or will he drag me?

Oh, Blind Date, I'd give my eye

To know if you are some swell guy,

Or just another of those things

Who neither hoofs, nor trips or sings.

"Oh, I can see the letters all right," said Marj, "but I can't pronounce the blooming word."
